

NOHA SPRING SCHOOL ON HUMANITARIAN ACTION

4-8 May, 2015

NOHA is an international association of Universities that aims to enhance professionalism in the humanitarian sector, by promoting humanitarian values and providing certificated high-level courses (Erasmus Mundus Master in International Humanitarian Action), as well as short-term courses and by fostering research and policy papers on key humanitarian issues. Since its creation in 1993, more than 3,000 graduates have completed the Joint Master's in International Humanitarian Action. NOHA counts on the cooperation and support of the EU through the DG Humanitarian Aid & Civil Protection (ECHO) and the DG for Education and Culture (DG EAC).

Drawing from the successful experience of the NOHA Fall Schools, organised since 2008, the NOHA Spring School on Humanitarian Action became a part of the network's short-term courses programme and is annually organised by Vilnius University in partnership with another European university.

This year, the Spring School will take place in Budapest, Hungary during 4-8 May 2015, and it is being co-organised by Eötvös Loránd University (ELTE). The teaching will be conducted by faculty from the network's universities and field actors, in order to provide professionals with a global approach and specific tools.

Objective

The Spring School aims at training professionals dealing with projects in Humanitarian Action (HA) in order to give them a critical overview of HA in a multidisciplinary perspective with a focus on the main principles, actors, tools. New challenges in HA will also be examined.

Target audience

Civil servants, staff from local, international and civil society organisations, and more generally those who are involved in HA and feel the need to upgrade their basic knowledge and skills. In order to reach the maximum effectiveness the number of participants will be limited to 25.

Date

5 days, 4-8 May, 2015.

Language of Training

English

Venue

ELTE Faculty of Law
Egyetem tér 1-3, 1053 Budapest, Hungary

Content

Introduction to HA
HA quality standards
Actors in HA
Funding agencies
Working with donors
Protection of civilians
Media role in HA
Public health
Gender issues in HA
Logistics and humanitarian management
International conflict management: Post Soviet countries
Challenges of humanitarian aid in conflict: reflection from Ukraine

Lecturers

NOHA Faculty, ELTE and Vilnius universities, ECHO, ICRC and major NGOs

Certificates

Students will be awarded with certificate from NOHA and ELTE University (subject to 80% participation).

Admission

Admission is granted on the basis of the past education and/or experience in the field. Candidates should fill in the online registration form http://www.ajk.elte.hu/en/noha_spring_school_2015/registration before 23 March.

Notification of acceptance: 25 March.
Payment deadline: 30 March.

*Waitlisted candidates will be notified (in case of acceptance) after 7 April.

*Prospective students are responsible for visa arrangements.

Fee

Course fee: 400 Euros. Participation fee covers all teaching materials, accommodation and meals.

Scholarship is available upon motivated request.

Free-of-charge positions are available for ECHO staff members.

Contacts

Renata VAIŠVILIENĖ

NOHA director, Vilnius University,
Law Faculty, International and EU Law Institute
E-mail: renata.vaisviliene@tf.vu.lt

Asoc. Prof. Dr. Sára HUNGLER

ELTE Faculty of Law
Tel. : +36 1 483-8000/4709 E-mail:
hungler@ajk.elte.hu

Additional information

www.nohanet.org
www.vu.lt
www.ajk.elte.hu/en

ELTE LAW
EÖTVÖS LORÁND UNIVERSITY

noha

A commitment to humanitarian excellence